

SEASON'S SCHEMINGS

by Bailey, Katie

When Maddie's boyfriend dumps her on live TV, her holiday plans go sideways—especially when she must spend Christmas with him and his new flame. Enter NHL star Sebastian Slater: one fake boyfriend request turns into a shocking proposal. Maddie seizes the ultimate revenge—showing up married instead of single.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE FARM

by Gilmore, Laurie

Kira North despises Christmas—bad timing, since she just bought a Christmas tree farm in an impossibly charming town. When snow traps vacationing Bennett Ellis at her farm, sparks fly. Amid twinkling lights and hot chocolate, these two weary hearts may discover that even the Grinchiest souls can find Christmas magic.

LITTLE WOMEN

by Alcott, Louisa May

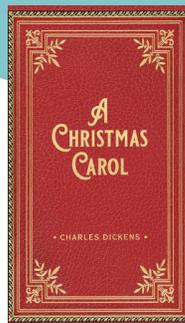

Meg, Jo, Beth, and Amy March grow up in genteel poverty during the Civil War, guided by their loving mother. The story follows their domestic adventures, efforts to earn income, friendship with the Laurence family, and eventual journeys into love and adulthood, highlighting each sister's distinct personality and dreams.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

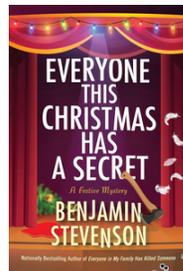

by Dickens, Charles

A miser learns the true meaning of Christmas when three ghostly visitors review his past and foretell his future.

EVERYONE THIS CHRISTMAS HAS A SECRET

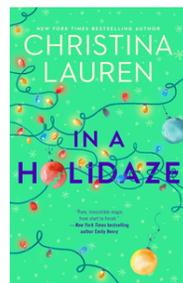

by Stevenson, Benjamin

I'm Ernest Cunningham—once a fan of Golden Age mysteries, now trapped in real ones. This Christmas, a murder interrupts magician Rylan Blaze's show. My suspects? Masters of misdirection. Blood, locked rooms, and an advent calendar lead the way. Because every good murder, like every magic trick, hides its truth.

IN A HOLIDAZE

by: Lauren, Christina

Maelyn Jones hates her life this Christmas—stuck with her parents, a dead-end job, and a romantic disaster. After wishing for happiness, a car crash lands her in a time loop, reliving the same snowy Utah holiday. Mae must navigate chaos, love, and laughter to finally find her perfect Christmas.

Christmas

“I will honor Christmas in my heart,
and try to keep it all the year.”
—Charles Dickens

FAKING CHRISTMAS

by Winfrey, Kerry

Laurel Grant doesn't own a farm—she just manages its social media. But when her boss assumes she does, she must fake it, especially for Christmas Eve dinner. With her nemesis posing as her husband and a snowstorm trapping them, Laurel must protect her job, her dignity, and maybe her heart.

THE CHRISTMAS SISTERS

by Morgan, Sarah

In snowy Scottish Highlands, Suzanne McBride dreams of a perfect Christmas with her three adopted daughters. But hidden secrets, personal crises, and unexpected romance threaten the holiday. As tensions rise, Suzanne must rely on Christmas magic to reunite her family and remind the sisters that their bond can withstand anything.

THE CHRISTMAS ORPHANS CLUB

by Freeman, Becca

Hannah and Finn have shared every Christmas since college, creating a family with friends Priya and Theo. But when Finn announces a move to L.A., old traditions—and unspoken feelings—are threatened. This Christmas, they must navigate love, change, and the fear that growing up might mean growing apart.

CHRISTMAS WITH THE QUEEN

by Gaynor, Hazel

In postwar Britain, young Queen Elizabeth II navigates tradition and change during the Christmas season. Over five Christmases at Sandringham, journalist Olive Carter and widowed chef Jack Devereux reconnect, face secrets, and rediscover dreams, all as the nation anticipates the Queen's first televised Christmas broadcast.

MERRY EX-MAS

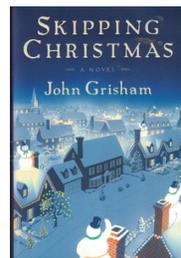

by Walsh, Courtney

Returning home for Christmas to secure a TV hosting gig, I didn't expect to run into my ex, Max—handsome, charming, and determined to win me back. Now, fake flirting for viewers threatens to awaken old feelings, and my heart might be the only thing at risk this holiday.

SKIPPING CHRISTMAS

by Grisham, John

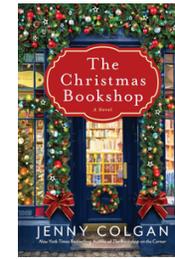

Luther and Nora Krank plan to skip Christmas—no tree, no parties, no decorations, just a Caribbean cruise. But avoiding the holiday proves harder than expected, bringing chaos, consequences, and hilarity in this modern classic that humorously exposes the frenzy and absurdities of holiday traditions.

THE CHRISTMAS BOOKSHOP

by Colgan, Jenny

Laid-off Carmen reluctantly spends Christmas with her perfect sister and takes a job reviving a dusty Edinburgh bookshop. Amid holiday chaos, charming books, and a famous author's unexpected interest, she discovers love, family, and the true Christmas spirit—proving that even messy lives can shine during the holidays.

SMALL THINGS LIKE THESE

by Keegan, Claire

In 1985, small-town Irish coal merchant Bill Furlong faces his busiest season. A discovery at a local convent forces him to confront his past and the quiet complicity of a town dominated by the church, changing his Christmas forever.

THE MOST WONDERFUL CRIME OF THE YEAR

by Carter, Ally

When famed mystery author Eleanor Ashley vanishes from a locked room just before Christmas, rival writers Maggie Chase and Ethan Wyatt are snowed in at her estate. Forced to team up, they navigate clues, chaos, and mutual annoyance—and maybe discover love—before the snow—and the mystery—traps them forever.

